FOREWORD

This publication of the Charles Carlson and Caroline Marie Haas genealogy has been the hope and aspiration of the writer for many years. I would like express my appreciation for the help and cooperation received from all the Carlson and allied families. I would especially like to express appreciation for the research efforts on our ancestral lines by the Research Department, The Genealogical Society, of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints, Salt Lake City, Utah. The Swedish lines were researched by Mrs. S.A. Hess; the German lines by Miss Leah Heibel in Salt Lake City, and Wolfgang Ollrog in Germany; the Danish lines by Finan Thomson in Salt Lake City, and by Aage Dahl in Denmark.

The usefulness of this publication will be greatly facilitated if the reader is aware of how it has been compiled; namely:

1. All female names are identified by their maiden name only.
2. The descendants of each child of Charles Carlson and Caroline Marie Haas are treated in separate chapters. This assists members of each family line to trace their own genealogy more easily.
3. The chapters are systematically sub-divided by listing all the descendants of the first child, then all the second child, etc. The book is organized so that the descendants of each grandchild of Charles Carlson and Caroline Marie Haas are grouped together. Each married grandchild is listed in the Table of Contents under the chapter headings of their parents.
4. The important key to this book is CHAPTER XI, INDEX TO NAMES. All names are indexed, including those in the photographs.
5. The use of numbers to identify individuals and generations is confusing, and has been avoided, except to show the order of the children's birth in individual families.
6. Family data is complete through the summer of 1967.
7. Initials bracketed by " " (Quote Marks) indicate that this is an initial name only.
8. Any names or dates underscored ( _____ ) indicate correct entries; and are used where the husband or wife surnames are the same, or where the date or names appear unusual.

CHAPTER I

CHARLES CARLSON and CAROLINE MARIE HAAS

CHARLES CARLSON (or CARL ANDERSSON, his Swedish name), son of Anders Carlsson and Maria Nilsson, was born 2 July 1861, Skarby, Skarby, Malmohus, Sweden; married 29 Jan. 1885, CAROLINE MARIE HAAS, at Salt Lake City, Salt Lake County, Utah; died 25 Mar. 1954, Pleasant Grove, Utah County, Utah; buried 29 Mar. 1954, Pleasant Grove, Utah County, Utah.

Charles was reared in Sweden until seventeen years of age. At this time the family planned to come to America. Only one hundred dollars could be raised, and arrangements were made for his father to go alone. Charles was young and strong, and his father did not desire to leave his wife; so Charles suggested that he go in his father's place. He told his parents that if America was as rich as people said it was, that he could soon earn enough money to buy the fare of the other family members. His father readily agreed to this plan.

Charles went alone to Copenhagen, Denmark, where he purchased passage on a vessel to New York City. He arrived in America on the 4 July 1878, then came to Utah by railroad. When he arrived at Salt Lake City, Utah, he should have taken the train south to Pleasant Grove, Utah. Instead he got on the train to Ogden, and rode as far northward as Farmington before realizing his mistake. He walked back to Salt Lake City. When on the outskirts of northern Salt Lake City he decided to take a swim in the springs, now known as the Wasatch Springs. He put his foot into the water, and found it was burning hot. He received the shock of his life, to find natural hot water.

He settled in Pleasant Grove and purchased thirty acres of land in the northern part of the city. By the fall of 1878 he saved enough money to send for his brother Peter. The following summer he was able to send money for the rest of his family to come to Utah. He met Caroline Marie Haas in Pleasant Grove, she was an immigrant from Denmark. They courted for a time, and were married in 1885 in Salt Lake City. They had nine children, two of which died in their infancy.

In 1890 Charles went to Missouri to inquire about some land, but returned to Utah. He sold his first farm and purchased another property consisting of fifty acres in northwestern Pleasant Grove, now known as Manila Ward. He was a successful farmer, raising diversified crops, and both beef and dairy cattle, chickens, and orchards. He was an energetic worker, a stern father, and keenly interested in politics. He sold his farm in 1938, and lived with his children until his death. He died at the home of his daughter, Cora Mirinda, where he resided for a number of years. He was in his ninety-third year, and had enjoyed excellent health all his life.

CAROLINE MARIE HAAS, daughter of Johannes Lochhaas or Haas and Else Kirstine Hansen, was born 11 June 1865, at Byrum, Aalborg, Denmark; chr. 24 Nov. 1865, Byrum, Aalborg, Denmark; married 29 Jan. 1885, CHARLES CARLSON, at Salt Lake City, Salt Lake County, Utah; died 25 Sept. 1922, Pleasant Grove, Utah County, Utah; buried 28 Sept. 1922, Pleasant Grove, Utah County, Utah.

Caroline Marie was reared in Denmark. Her mother died when she was only thirteen years of age. In 1883 she and her father came to America. She was eighteen years of age. They were on the ship for fourteen days, landing at New York City. They came to Utah by railroad, taking eight days for the trip. It was on this trip from New York to Utah that she saw here first tomato. She thought they were so pretty, but the worst thing she had ever tasted. They settled at Pleasant Grove, Utah. Her father died just two years after their arrival.

Shortly after her arrival at Pleasant Grove, she met and was courted by Charles Carlson, a successful farmer of the area. They were married in 1885 at Salt Lake City, Utah. They were the parents of nine children, two of which died in infancy. They built a lovely red brick home on their farm, which is still attractive and used today.

Caroline Marie loved her family and children, and devoted her life to their rearing. She loved music and dancing. One of her prize possessions was a roller playing piano, which provided music and entertainment for the family.

She was an excellent cook and seamstress. She not only worked in the home, but also assisted with work on the farm. She assisted in weeding, irrigating, and harvesting of the crops, and even milked the cows on occasions. She could shear her own sheep, card and spin the wool, then make stockings, underwear, or other clothes. She was a fine seamstress. She only needed to see a picture of a dress, then sit down and cut out a pattern and make a perfect dress.

Caroline Marie was a hard working and devoted wife, and humbly carried on her responsibilities of motherhood. She enjoyed very few luxuries of life, but found great happiness in her children. She died at her home at the age of fifty-seven years.

Charles Carlson and Caroline Marie Haas had the following children:

CHAPTER II

ANCESTRY OF CHARLES CARLSON

On the following pages are listed a number of Pedigree Charts, showing the ancestry of Charles Carlson. He was the son of Anders Carlsson and Maria Nilsson, b. 2 July 1861, Skarby, Skarby, Mal-mohus, Sweden, md. 29 Jan. 1885, Caroline Marie Haas, at Salt Lake City, Salt Lake County, Utah; d. 25 Mar. 1954, Pleasant Grove, Utah County, Utah; bur. 29 Mar. 1954, Pleasant Grove, Utah County, Utah.

Thirteen pages of Pedigree Charts follow, and are necessary to show the ancestry of Charles Carlson. Each chart has a number, and each individual on the charts is identified by a number. Hence, Charles Carlson appears as #1 on Chart 1. Carl Holgersson appears as #16 on Chart 1; and since his data cannot be shown on Chart 1, he is continued on Chart 2, where he appears as #1 on that chart. All individuals appearing on the right-hand side of Chart 1 are continued on additional charts. The names of the individuals are given, then a chart number is given where this name and ancestral line is continued. For example, Nils Parsson appears as #20 on Chart 1, then he is continued on Chart 6, where he appears as #1 on this chart. Here his ancestral lines are continued.

Following the Pedigree Charts in this chapter, an alphabetical listing is given of the Family Groups of the couples whose names appear on the Pedigree Charts. This listing of the Family Groups is according to the husband's name. The husband and wife are each identified in the Family Group listing by a Chart and an Individual Number. In this way, they can be readily located on the Pedigree Charts. For example, Carl Andersson (Chart 1, #4) married Estrid Isaksson (Chart 1, #5); or Par Christensson (Chart 6, #2) married Hanna Ottosson (Chart 6, #3). In each instance, all known family data on the parents and the children are given in the Family Group data.

In the listing of data of the Family Groups in the last part of this chapter, it is important to know which child of the family group is the progenitor. This is shown by an (X) placed in front of the name of the child that is the progenitor. In this way it is easy to trace one's ancestry.

CHAPTER III

ANCESTRY OF CAROLINE MARIE HAAS

On the following pages are listed a number of Pedigree Charts, showing the ancestry of Caroline Marie Haas. She was the daughter of Johannes Lochhaas or Haas and Else Kirstine Hansen, b. 11 June 1865, Byrum, Laeso, Hjorring, Denmark; md. 29 Jan. 1885, Charles Carlson, at Salt Lake City, Salt Lake County, Utah; d. 25 Sept. 1922, Pleasant Grove, Utah County, Utah; bur. 28 Sept. 1922, Pleasant Grove, Utah County, Utah.

Six pages of Pedigree Charts follow, and are necessary to show the ancestry of Caroline Marie Haas. Each chart has a number, and each individual on the charts is identified by a number. Hence, Caroline Marie Haas appears as #1 on Chart 14. Johann Henrich Lochhaas appears as #16 on Chart 14; and since his data cannot be shown on Chart 14, he is continued on Chart 15, where he appears as #1 on that chart. All individuals appearing on the right-hand side of Chart 14 are continued on additional charts. The names of the individuals are given, then a chart number is given where this name and ancestral line is continued. For example, Johann Anton Friedrich Struckmeier appears as #22 on Chart 14, then he is continued on Chart 18, where he appears as #1 on this chart. Here his ancestral lines are continued.

Following the Pedigree Charts in this chapter, an alphabetical listing is given of the Family Groups of the couples whose names appear on the Pedigree Charts. This listing of the Family Groups is according to the husband's name. The husband and wife are each identified in the Family Group listing by a Chart and an Individual Number. In this way, they can be readily located on the Pedigree Charts. For example, Johannes Lochhaas (Chart 14, #4) married Rosina Carolina Degenhard or Struckmeier (Chart 14, #5); or Sebastian Oestrich (Chart 16, #2) married Helena Smet (Chart 16, #3). In each instance, all known family data on the parents and children are given in the Family Group data.

In the listing of data of the Family Groups in the last part of this chapter, it is important to know which child of the family group is the progenitor. This is shown by an (X) placed in front of the name of the child that is the progenitor. In this way it is easy to trace one's ancestry.
